CONVENTION TO PLACE COLLEGE PERMANENTLY

Braulick, Haefer
Attend A. L. C.
Meet, Oct. 11-17.

"Shini Waverly be made the permanent location of Warburg college" is one of the questions to be presented to the sixth biennial convention of the American Lutheran church which is now meeting in Detroit, Mich. The opening session was held Friday, Oct. 11, although preliminary sessions and committee meetings were being held all during this past week.

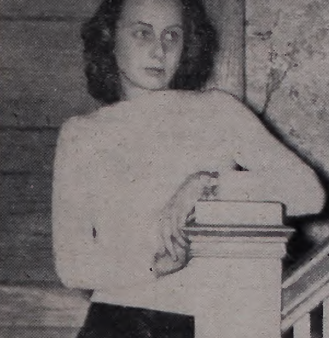

The question regarding the location of Warburg is being raised by the Board of Christian Higher Education, which is recommending Waverly as the permanent site.

Prof. E. J. Braulick, who is secretary of the American Lutheran church, left Monday to attend the preliminary meetings. Dr. A. Haefer, who will represent the college faculty, left Sunday, and Dr. S. Shalkhauser, who is handling publicity for Warburg, leaves tonight after the Homecoming banquet.

Rev. Shalkhauser is in charge of a Warburg display at the convention. The display includes a large electric sign in the form of a wheel with the caption: "Leading the light of truth in our Christian youth." The display and screen are also included in the display and the electric film will be run off at intervals. Various charts and tables concerning registration complete the display.

Approximately 200 delegates and hundreds of visitors are expected to be present for the convention which extends through next week to Oct. 17. This convention marks the tenth year since the merger of the Ohio, Ohio and Buffalo synods into the American Lutheran church and the general slogan is "Forward in Faith."

Homecoming Queen

Miss Olivia Denef, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. E. Denef of Theresa, Wis., and a junior at Warburg, was chosen by the student body as queen of the 1940 Homecoming festivities, and was officially crowned on Friday evening in connection with the huge pep celebration.

Miss Denef has taken an active part in student activities on the Warburg campus. She is a member of the faculty-student council, the Warburg choir, and the Warburg Players; she served as secretary-treasurer of her freshman class, and in her sophomore year was laboratory assistant in the biology department.

A top-ranking student scholastically, Miss Denef has won scholarships in both her freshman and sophomore years. She is majoring in music with minors in English and physical education.

WAR MANEUVERS THEME OF 1940 HOMECOMING

Speaker

Alumni Veterans
Answer Warburg
Call to Arms.

Mr. Edgar Jahr, a graduate of Warburg college in 1917, is the main speaker on the program at the Warburg Homecoming banquet Saturday evening, Oct. 12. Mr. Jahr, formerly of Strawberry Point, is now principal of the high school at Rockwell. While in college he was prominent in campus activities, being president of the science club when he was a junior. The theme in the banquet is army maneuvers. Mr. Jahr will speak "The Call to Arms."

In keeping with the clash of arms resounding throughout the world today is the theme of Warburg's homecoming, war maneuvers. This theme is expressed by the elaborate placards which the occupants of Warburg hall have placed near the door of their domicile stating "No Man's Land," "No Spies Allowed," etc.; by the two strapping doughboys so vigilantly guarding the door; by the banquet menu which offers such morsels as cannon balls, bomb shells, shrapnel and nitroglycerine; and by the mighty battle between the Knights and the Quakers on the city field this afternoon.

The Knights of the Night host day afternoon in response to the no-man's land issued by Edwin Franken, Vernon Strempe, Anne Aardal and Mary Wagner. These veterans have gallantly laid aside the risks of the battle to answer the call to arms.

Preparation for battle began Friday evening with the coronation of the queen and a pep rally around the freshman conference in which "Old Man Quaker" was buried in effigy. Following this a snake dance took place in a vivid demonstration of the power, pep and spirit of Warburg.

Reti from these maneuvers was provided by the "bomb pop" Waverly theater, to which shelter most of the army tented.

Today the Warburg artillery will move in grand parade at 1:00 p. m. Fourteen war machines have been built under the direction of Alfred Franke, Orville Kalkwarf, and Luther Wagoner.

General headquarters of the homecoming are in charge of Rev. C. G. Shalkhauser, chairman of the general homecoming committee. Prof. Ottensberg, Dr. Schaeffer, and Dr. Denef, are also present. President Martin Heit, chairman, Hans Sandorck, Elmer Henrichs, Margaret Meier, Robert Wiedemann, Arthur Schmidt, Elmer Meyer, James Miersen, Zinos, Florence Sene, Max Bredemann, Arthur Beckers, Betty Grosshans, Arthur Beckers, Betty Schaeffer.

The program at mess tonight has been moved to the new hall, Martin Heit, Alfred Wack, Vernon Strempe, and Victoria Voelker.

Chairs and checkroom: Stanley Streiten, chairman, Robert Braunmeyer, William B. Bahr, North hall; Richard W. Bahr, Victor Fritz and M. Keith Brownson, Warburg hall; Richard W. Bahr, Dorothy Annson and Virginia W.

Registration committee: Edwin Schick, chairman, Janice Black, Marvin Knapf, Ruth P. Bahr, Victor Reuther and Roland Brandt.

Picture committee: William Wehrmacher.

BROADCASTS TO OPEN OCT. 17

Music Dept., Neumann,
Beta Lambda Lambda,
Feature First Program.

Warburg broadcasts which have been temporarily held up because of lack of equipment will be on Thursday, Oct. 17, at 4:00 p. m. When the first in a series of bi-weekly half-hour programs will originate in Warburg hall.

The music department will be represented by three soloists in this first program of the series: Helen Thompson, soprano, will sing "Life" by Curran, William Wagoner, tenor, will play "Showers of Gold" by Herbert Clarke, and Art Becker, flutist, will play "Hills of Home" by Oscar Fox.

Warburg activities will be discussed briefly by G. J. Neumann. In addition, two students representing the Beta Lambda Lambda Warburgs football club, will speak. Miss Emma Klein, freshman from Muscatine, Iowa, will present the reactions of a freshman girl to Warburg. Vernon Strempe, a junior from Jessup, Iowa, will in turn give an upperclassman's outlook on life at Warburg.

Broadcasts of the near future will feature Rev. C. H. Becker, superintendent of the Waverly Lutheran Children's home, as the principal speaker on Oct. 31, and members of the Beta Lambda Lambda on Nov. 14. The subject under discussion will be "Should the nations of the western hemisphere form a defensive alliance against foreign aggression?"

VERNON MOHR CHOSEN TO LEAD GROSSMANN HALL

Vernon Mohr was elected chairman of Grossmann hall at a meeting held by the Grossmann dormitory council Thursday evening, Oct. 10. At this meeting also Edwin Franken was chosen secretary-treasurer for the coming year.

In addition to this election, dormitory problems were discussed, although no action was taken at this preliminary meeting. The council will continue to meet regularly on Thursdays from 8:45 to 7:15 p. m. until all dormitory problems have been cleared up.

ARTIST SERIES FEATURES LYON

Opera Singer and Continental Come
Well Recommended.

Ruby Spencer Lyon and her Continentals will appear on Warburg first 1940 bi-year program on Thursday, Oct. 10, at 8:15 p. m. in the college auditorium.

Miss Lyon is famous as a brilliant opera and concert soprano. Each member of her traveling ensemble is a highly trained musician. Her singing, concert and radio soloist. They have been selected by Miss Lyon, for their purity of voice and matchless personality.

They have appeared on the Vicks Open House program with Nelson Edison. They have also appeared on The House by the Side of the Road program and on the Continental Hour. Other very successful and excellent appearances are made at the University of Notre Dame, the Davenport Woman's club and numerous other places.

The Continental program is highly varied and musically fine. It includes semi-classical, light operatic and continental songs. There are also special arrangements of operetta and musical comedy selections which have made Miss Lyon so famous.

According to Prof. Swensen, chairman of the program, the presentation will be educational as well as entertaining to the student body. This certainly will attract all those interested in good music.

Players Present "The Patsy"

A cast of eight members has been selected for the first production of the Warburg Players to be given under the direction of Prof. D. C. Torquist. The play, a three act comedy entitled "The Patsy" by Barry Connors, will be given in the Warburg auditorium on Nov. 22.

According to Prof. Torquist, the play was originally called "The Love Lesson," but the title was changed several years ago when it was made into a moving picture starring Marion Davies. The theme centers about a house-picked family whose members finally learn to stand up for their own rights.

The cast includes the following: Vernon Strempe, Martha Albrecht, Helen Lutz, Virginia Wagoner, Arlin Kuymer, Elmer Miersen, Olivia Denef, and Arnold Rubbe.

QUEEN'S RECEPTION SPONSOR BY HOME EC CLUB SUNDAY

The queen's reception will be held during the hours from 2 to 4 o'clock. The reception is being sponsored by the Home Ec club, who will also serve refreshments. Students and alumni are invited to attend.

Prof. John Hillner preached the anniversary sermon at St. John's Lutheran church, Jewell, on Oct. 6, 1940. The date commemorates the 40th anniversary of the building of the present church and building.

Attention, Alumni

In sending each of you this issue of the TRUMPET, we are assuming that this is in accordance with your wishes and that you desire to subscribe to the TRUMPET for the coming year. In case you do not, will you please return the self-addressed, postage-paid envelope which you will receive and indicate that you do not wish to receive any more copies.

By making the above assumption, we can be sure that you will not miss a single copy of this year's volume.

BAND

Concert to Knights

The Warburg college band, under the direction of Prof. E. G. Heit, made its first concert appearance during convocation Thursday, Oct. 10. The program directed by Prof. Heit, the Knights and was enthusiastically received by students and faculty. Prof. Heit announced the members, added a bit of humor by interpreting an overture, called Ed. Veng, the homecoming theme between Pearl Warburg and

"As You Sow So Shall You Reap"

"It is more blessed to give than to receive" is a saying that is often heard in connection with Christmas time. It can also be applied to the student's attitude toward his college. The average Wartburgian, having duly paid his bill in dollars and cents at the college office, turns his thoughts to "Now what am I going to get out of that? What can Wartburg give me in return for my money? How can I best get my money's worth?"

This, of course, is a very natural attitude. Few people will give and several hundred will without attempting to get the same value in exchange. The mistake that many students make is in thinking that they can passively receive the greatest benefit from their education without giving in return to the college the best of their efforts, talents and cooperation.

Only by the giving of your talents to the college, athletes to the Trumpet, the debate club, and the various other organizations, and, most of all, to the furthering of Christ's kingdom here on earth can you grow scholastically, physically and spiritually strong. It is by giving that you receive. The college needs you and you need the college. The more you give and offer of yourself, the more the college can offer you. Education can be bought like any commodity, but it takes a mighty effort to gain real wisdom therefrom. Throw your money into the activities on the campus. Make use of those wasted hours. Find out that it is only when every moment is filled and has a task that you begin to learn, that you begin to grow, that life takes on a fuller, richer meaning, that in giving you have purchased for yourself a blessing.

Are You Giving Honor to Christ?

Many students come to Wartburg inspired with a zeal to live for Christ and to learn to work for Him more efficiently. Some students retain that zeal throughout their college careers. Others on finding no challenge in "Christianity" quit at Wartburg and only a casual acceptance of it, but that zealous flame die for lack of fuel.

Students, if you neglect and let fall into disuse a member of your body, it becomes weak. A zealous spirit for Christ is likely to become weak and listless, as, if allowed to fall into disuse. It is thus that Christian spirits are often lulled into quietude here in the calm atmosphere of Wartburg college.

Students, let's revive that slumbering spirit. If some notable government official were to be present in chapel, 100 percent of us would be there to do him honor. Yet Christ, who that wherever two or three are gathered in His name. He will be to bless. How much honor and glory are you giving the Creator and Redeemer of the world today? Let's attend chapel regularly and make Wartburg a real power for Christ in prayer and worship.

Don't Disgrace Our Loyalty Song!

Nothing has been so disgusting to me in the past few days as hearing our loyalty song jazzed. I have been wondering whether those who sang it in this fashion remembered that it is a hymn and is found in our American Lutheran hymnal—No. 431—to be exact. Furthermore, the jazzing of our loyalty song shows no loyalty—only disrespect. If you must have jazz, hereafter please confine yourselves to jazz and don't use our beautiful hymns for that purpose. —R. M.

The program consisted of the following numbers: "Radiogram March" by Eisenberg; "Ode to Victory" by K. King; flute solo by Arthur Becker, accompanied by Ruth Voelker; a comedy tune entitled "Have a Little Fun" by Bennett; and a little travesty by the band. For an encore the band played the Wartburg loyalty song. The instrumentalists of the band was improved during the past week with the addition of a bassoon player, Virginia Wagner, a freshman from Des Moines.

LIVING FOR JESUS

Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all His benefits. Ps. 103:2.

I was a visitor in a home the other day, where I saw something that troubled me very much. The son in the home, who was no longer a boy, acted out to perfection the "make-it-for-us" spirit that is said to be so prevalent in this generation. He entered the dining room without greeting anyone, called for something to eat, sat down to eat before any of the others were ready to eat, and when he had finished, he took the best of what had been prepared, yet grumbled about the cooking, expected his mother to wait on him hand and foot and whined when she did not meet his quickly enough, rare from the table without a word put on his hat, and went, and left with "So long, I'm going up the street."

As I witnessed the scene, mingled emotions surged through me. My spirit, anger, desire to help. When he left, I stood up in my own heart to God that when the lessons of life came his way, as they always will, that he would not be so severe as to break him.

In a little while I was in the dining room—alone. I thought. Then the scene I had just witnessed came home with renewed meaning. I saw not the dining room but a picture of the world—the mother of God—the young man. "I'm going up the street." And up in my heart, one by one, came thoughts of the times I had taken "So long" or grumbled when I had been presumptuous, times when I had thought only of my own interests, times when I had "breeced" in and out of this presence without a word of greeting, times when I had been so gracious to me and I so ungrateful. As one after another of my mother's messages came to me I felt ashamed. O so ashamed and up from my heart went a prayer for forgiveness and a sincere hymn of thanksgiving for His unending kindness and grace and even of such things as had "taken things for granted."

Suppose a father had a beloved son who was attending college in some distant town—and sat down and wrote him a letter full of love and affection. And when he was always thinking about him, that he was deeply interested in his success, that he was praying for his soul, and also enclosing a check.

And then suppose that father, taken with longing to see his son, boarded a train, arrived at the college, and was shown to the hall leading to his son's room. Upon seeing his son, he thought of the love he had sent the sound of a familiar voice and that these words he would never hear. And here's a check! Good! Just what I wanted! Now you can tell me I can read that later.

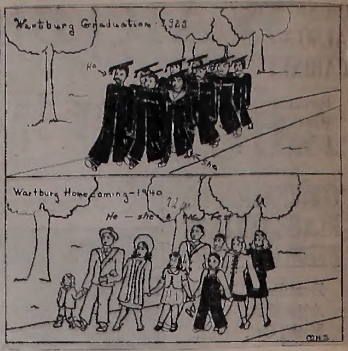

Can you see the pallor of that set face in the corridor? Can you hear his heart come hard? Can you imagine that son, standing at his heart? Yes, and our souls rise in sympathy with his sorrow in righteous indignation at the ingratitude in the room.

And yet—just exactly the way to many of our readers (a few) are treating the message of our heavenly Father—accepting His gifts and spending them on their pleasures, but neglecting and despising the words of grace and truth which He has sent into the fullness of His loving heart in the Holy Word! Lutheran tract.

STUDENT FINDS SELF SWAMPED IN CHEMICALS

Phenomena of Chemistry Found Everywhere.

As I awoke this morning, I threw the covers back, sat on the edge of the bed and thought about chemistry. Chemistry? I vaguely and suddenly remembered that I had to finish studying the lesson. Oh dear, thought I, how can I find applications of chemistry in everyday life. Perhaps it's all a farce anyway. Fawning again, I lightly said to myself, "I'll look around and see if there is any (actual) chemistry in modern life."

Realizing that after all these years was school this morning, I hurried into the bathroom. With one last yawn I turned on the water, picked up the soap—what's this?—firming, solidifying, means. I have to remember that. After I had proceeded and begun to brush my teeth, I suddenly realized that here in my tooth powder was sodium bicarbonate, another of my friends from the chemistry laboratory. My beard, I removed with an electric razor encased in a plastic sheath by chemistry means. With the oil I used on my hair, I noticed four special times I was indebted to the chemistry. Perhaps there is more to this than I think.

Breakfast! said I to me. Breakfast breakfast! Is the food from the lower quarter, so I call from down to eat food cooked in aluminum—wait! I made commercially practical by a new chemical process. I cook on gas, derived chemically from coal. What a matter of fact, I get the energy which made this food by the break down of sugars and fats.

Since I had a minute and a half more to use, I sat down to read the morning paper, but I noticed that chemically treated wood pulp.

This idle thinking, however, cost me several minutes time. I had reached the gas line and took father's car to the garage and on time. As I opened the door and stepped out, I thought that it is the chemically derived point that preserves the car, the chemically improved gasoline that supports the car, and the chemical gasoline that drives the car. When I was reminded of the chemist, the chemist that made the most safe from drunken drivers. I realized I could in my debt to modern chemistry.

Having arrived safely at school, I sat in my hand on the copy book, scarcely realizing that it had been recently cleaned by chemical solvents, and entered the classroom, and climbed the steps held in position by a calcium compound.

After I entered the classroom, I noticed my teacher writing on the blackboard one chemical substance, but another, chalk. He wore glasses, the lenses of which were either potassium or sodium united with silicon or sand, and looking up I noticed the electric light was on. Yes it was the new style made brighter by the addition of certain gases especially nitrogen into the globe.

When I took a few notes on the lecture, I suddenly remembered that my pencil made its lines of graphite, in form of cooking, and the chewing gum, when my friend Joe cannot seem to leave at home, I made easy by the addition of certain complex compounds. Every time I took at Joe I cannot forget the time he cut himself with a knife and two of the girls "passed out." Of course my psychology professor would explain their reaction as an overactivity of hormones, chemical regulation. Joe was more interested in having the blood in the wound clot, however, which incidentally was caused by the chemical change of fibrinogen into fibrin.

After this class of daydreams, I went down to the gymnasium where I could still smell the disinfectant, a chemical to be sure. I pulled on my Keds with their sturdy rubber soles. Yes, I know they were made strong by vulcanization, a combination of physical and chemical phenomena. Out on the gym floor I pulled myself up several times on the horizontal bar and noticed that rust, a chemical product of the union of iron and oxygen, makes it unsafe, so in order to remain in breathing order, another chemical process to be sure. I refrained from any more of this type of gymnastics.

You may wonder why I stop here or breathe a sigh of relief, both of which are possible only by chemical processes so I'll stop in rest of the latter.

Coed Chatter

Dear Alumni:

Since last we saw your smiling faces at these fair portals of learning, I have times has changed. Remember when I was a coed? Had glamour? Well, now they find I am a coed. I was in the Wartburg Castle, you didn't know what it was, did you? That hung over for years in the faculty record. Some bright person had it hung over the north door of Luther hall, yes, (yes, inside).

We overheard a conversation concerning "the man with the sad eyes." It didn't make sense but ask Alberta. Ozzie and Bernice are "heart's deserts" again, since Gabby is occupied in Cedar Falls this year (or is it). I'm on Lac's overhauling the place. Remember that at the Beckers and Ruth Roth are in good going order.

We have a freshman known hereabouts as "I wanna go to Missouri" Sittkewitz. It seems there was a carnival and a girl. The rest should be a victory. Fritz seems normal.

The Gamma Gamma Gamma (Gotta take the reality are) Go Getters. Take for example our Ruth Poe, the Charles City girl. She is the coed of our esteemed president of the Beta Lambda Lambda. Ask one of the coeds, they will tell you what Poe and Biker were conferring about one day in the gym.

One heart full of love

Wedding Bells.

In case you're in doubt — you don't get around much, do you? Subversive activities are conducted to public notice from Grassman's hall. You'd think to them they'd sent for Dick Tracy's legions. Bob Braunschweig's beard is worth $7.50 to him if he comes back from Xmas vacation. He'll be kept his beard, he might be minus something. Others listening to Dick Tracy's legions. The band, New Schmor, Pop Sanger, and Rudy Andersen (till Homecoming).

Remember those rumors this summer, apparently untrue, concerning Karl and Bernice are still blinding and cooing.

Hope to see you Homecoming, damn. Along with it just isn't the same without you.

WARTBURGERS AT LEAGUE MEET

Representatives Attend From Fourteen Leagues.

A large group of Wartburg Luther Leaguers attended the fall rally of the Cedar Valley Lutheran League held at St. Peter's Lutheran church in Denver, Sunday, Oct. 6. Leaguers came from thirteen other leagues in this territory with a total registration of 246 for one of the largest rallies in Cedar Valley history.

The rally program began with divine services at 10:30 a. m. directed by Rev. E. Schenck, the host pastor. Visiting leaguers were guests of members of St. Peter's for dinner.

Lienbach Leads Singing

Headlining the singing program were Rev. G. E. Meichert, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, Waterloo, with an organ accompaniment, and Prof. E. Lienbach of Wartburg, who led the Choral Union singing.

Brant Elected Vice-President. Federation president, Arthur Brant, of Wartburg 49, presided at the business meeting in the afternoon session. In the election of officers, Brant was elected president of the Denver league and a senior at Wartburg was elected vice-president of the territory.

The new president is Thomas Douglas of Waterloo; Gretchen Hartz of Tripoli, was elected treasurer, and Rev. E. Hofer, Wartburg 37, now at Trinity Lutheran church, Waterloo, was elected advisory pastor.

In the evening, movies of the 1939 International Luther League convention at Baltimore, Md. were shown. Special musical and dramatic numbers were presented by the host league. The day's activities were climaxed with a social hour of fun in the church basement.

Organizations

Prayer Fellowship. Substituting for the regular Wartburg service, a special expository discussion of Bible passages was delivered by Alfred Weick at the Sept. 29 meeting of the Prayer Fellowship group. Mr. Weick rendered the discussion impromptu. The exposition was delivered in terms of every day life, and applied Christ's words to the college student. The meeting was closed with song and prayer.

The meeting held Oct. 6 was led by Liekevin Horn in discussion on the topic "Faith and Knowledge. Do They Conflict?" It was pointed out that the scientist finds no conflict with religion in the world of science. It is only the man who has dabbling with knowledge who feels that there is a conflict. It was further noted that the world of science depends as much on faith as does religion.

The next meeting will be held Sunday, Oct. 13 with "How can we know the will of God?" as the topic.

Gernsma Club

(September 29) Erwin Waltz was elected president of the Gernsma club at its first meeting held Sept. 30, 1940. Victor Schroeder and Richard Bange were elected vice-president and secretary respectively.

Mr. Waltz, taking over the duties of president, asked the club to propose a suitable meeting time, in response to which the first

CONTINENTALERS HERE OCT. 15

Ruby Spencer Lyon and her Continentalers, shown above, will appear at Wartburg auditorium, Tuesday evening, Oct. 15, as the opening number on the Wartburg 1940-41 Artist Series.

Thursday of each month was chosen as the day for the club to meet.

Mr. Schroeder, as vice-president, automatically became chairman of the program committee.

(October 2) The special meeting was called to order and the president reported that the proposed meeting time had been rejected by the advisory committee, whereupon the third Sunday of every month at 8:15 p. m. was declared open by the club.

W. A. A.

Members of the Women's Athletic Association met last Thursday evening, Oct. 3, in Wartburg hall. Plans were made for membership drive and methods of raising money were discussed. The rest of the evening was spent in working on the Lumbermen's float. Joyce Martins is chairman of the float committee, with Mary Lyons, Margaret Schuler and Helena Berglake as helpers.

Debate

Beta Lambda Lambda has already given into action and opens the season presenting Emma Klein and Vernon Strenke in the first radio broadcast, Oct. 15, 8:30 p. m. over W. O. I. They will speak on various phases of college life.

Plans to broadcast a Round Table Discussion are being made. The topic will be "Constitutions as it effects me as a college student." From seven to nine members of the organization will take part giving their personal reactions to the topic.

As a result of rapidly increasing interest in the society, many new members have joined since the beginning of the season, among which are a number of prospective talented debaters.

Free The

"Relations of the Pastor to His Congregation" is to the general theme under discussion in the Pre-theological society throughout this semester. It was decided at the society's first regular meeting on Sunday morning, Oct. 6.

"Specifications of a Lutheran pastor" was discussed Sunday. Three papers were presented on this general topic: "Spiritual Qualifications" by Karl Landecker, "Physical Qualifications" by Onkie Iken, and "Cultural Qualifications" by Vernon Strenke. Vernon Mohr, vice-president of the Society and chairman of the program committee, led the group in the discussion which followed.

Practice in parliamentary procedure will be afforded the members of the group in the course of the year. Fifteen minutes of each meeting will be set aside for this purpose.

At a special meeting on Reformation Day, Dr. Bodenbach, President of Wartburg Seminary, will speak to the society and private interviews will be arranged for those who desire to speak personally to the Seminary president.

MINERS DEFEAT WARTBURG 12-0

Camratta Hurt in Opening Minutes of Initial Game.

In their first game of the season the inexperienced Wartburg Knights went down to a 12-0 defeat at the hands of the Wisconsin School of Mines, Sault Ste. Marie, Wis., on September 28. The game was played under a trying sun which hampered both teams considerably.

The heavier Miner team followed in the defensive attack was the part of the Knights to score twice in the first half. In the second half the Knights came back hard and outplayed and outtaught their opponents but failed to cross the payoff strip.

The first Miner touchdown came early in the game when the Miners marched down the field. The field and then completed a pass from Wisco to Pokorney for the score. The conversion failed.

In the second quarter the Miners took the ball on the Knights 15-yard line. Where John Green ran the 15 yards for the touchdown.

The loss of Camratta on the third play of the game was to a large extent responsible for the failure of the Knights' running plays to function as had been expected. The second time "Fudge" carried the ball he had gained 20 yards and only the safety man was between him and the goal. The safety man instead of trying to make three or four yards and hit the inside of "Fudge's" back. The time did not allow him to run but Camratta was unable to carry the ball, although he was able to play around a short time later in the game.

The lineup:
Wartburg: Linde, Scabo, Fabin, LT, Ed, Bergman, JO, Strouvenell, C, Hanley, Shifer, RT, Vankovich, Langholz, RT, Finko, Peterson, RB, Pokorney, Wagner, RE, Moray, C, Bergman, RT, Green, Oberauer, RB, Wisco, Camratta, FB, Howell.
Substitutions: Plattville, Brownwell, Green, Brokaw, Chaitin, Tuttle, Wagoner, Herron, Beck.

Officials: Referee, Hoeserud; Umpire, Mann; Headlinesman, Hoeserud.

CONFERENCE CHIPS By MIRE

A Jim seemed to hover around Wartburg's football team as the Western Union Eagles mustered their 46-0 in Saturday evening's game. This was the second straight of the season for the Knights who dropped the first game 12-0 to the Wisconsin School of Mines Sept. 28. However, with the Eagles' loss was an entirely different story as this was their second victory in a row. The Eagles were unable to slow up their attempt at the conference championship.

It is a hard watch as it confers its bid for another cham-

1940 Wartburg Grid Co-Captains

Meet the co-captains of the Wartburg Knights, under whose guidance the honor of Wartburg is upheld on the gridiron.

Richard Wagner, a player from Treynor, Iowa, is selecting his fourth season of hard-fighting, consistent football for the Knights. He has consistently held out the banner position, and when the season at Waverly was over, always came out of the quarter-back spot.

Rodolph Langholz is a junior from Wanda, Minn., who is playing his third year for the Knights. He has consistently held out the banner position, and when the season at Waverly was over, always came out of the quarter-back spot.

DUB'S DIARY

Friday, Oct. 1—Was tremendously awakened this morning early by a heavy of roads which invaded the family estate ostensibly to sweep the porch (Freshman Initiation rule No. 16) but actually did little besides waste the entire neighborhood. Someone, however, would inform them that if they must sing the Wartburg loyalty song that they should please to sing it on any one way and please get a few of the words straight. However, was very much amused to learn that the fresh girls, not knowing where all the girls were, perchance swept the front porch of one Mr. Jurgensman on West Bremer Ave.

Saturday, Oct. 5—On the second day of the tenth month of the year of grace, one thousand nine hundred and forty, I did absolutely nothing worthy of note or mention here.

Sunday, Oct. 6—Did satisfy my barbaric instincts this day by playing Simon Legree to, every freshman I chanced to meet. Despite the fact I did feel sorry for them, but I did remember that last year I, too, did undergo some of this unbecomingly, and so I did feel mean on this day.

Friday, Oct. 12—Also attended this day a m. and did shout and holler as per schedule, however, did marvel that Wartburg should have been in the field. I heard a good story about Miss Wacknitz this afternoon. It seems that all week she had noticed that the boys and girls were dressing a bit queerly. As this striking custom was from day 1 day she began to wonder whether something was wrong with the people here. About Friday she decided (probably somebody told her) that this is INITIATION WEEK!

Saturday, Oct. 13—Managed to knock off work this evening in time to go to the football game. The game was a rather unsteady game it seemed to me. But they were up against some real competition. The part of the whole event that looked the sickest was the cheering section. How I wonder if the Knights be expected to do their best without some real cheering when we made it difficult play on the field but when things didn't go so well they just stood still, or cursed the team. Some member of it I did hope that they can show some real Wartburg spirit when we play them on Saturday.

Sunday, Oct. 14—This afternoon I got together a group, and we went over to Des Moines to the League rally of the Cedar Valley Federation. In the evening each league was supposed to have a stunt. Confidently, the one done by the Wartburg League was the best one there. During the evening Emma Klein lost her voice somewhere. We looked all over for it but she finally had to go home without it.

Monday, Oct. 15—Never did I enjoy a convention as much as I do the one which is keeping Prof. Hestner away from Greek class for it week. Will Vagor Prof. Tom-quist was rather nonplussed when Iliad Speech 201 class with only three out of fifteen called on ready to speak. This evening I helped cut out banners, decorations, place cards, etc. and at the home of friends Corrine and a good time was had by all. Tuesday, Oct. 16—This evening, I was told, the Trumpet staff would have a regular meeting in room 20. When I was there I found that Miss Wacknitz was using that room for one of her very popular extra German classes. I did finally find my meeting, however. By George, there was the best turnout a TRUMPET staff meeting has ever enjoyed!

Wednesday, Oct. 17—Dr. Hiltner gave the Christianity 201 class another new setting arrangement. I don't really mind but it is just a little inconvenient trying to remember where one seat is and the next day having to forget unit and learn another.

Wednesday, Oct. 18—Happened to be on the wrong side of one of the most beautiful plays executed in the annals of 100th-100th today. There was only one minute to play. The score was 0-0. A brilliant pass from Matthias to Schreier deep in our back field, a short run, and that was all there was to it. I still don't understand how it happened. This evening I worked in an editorial capacity with all the duties and pleasures pertaining.

Thursday, Oct. 19—Getting out of Greek class every day this week seems swell now, but I'm wondering how I'll feel next week. This evening Bob and I tried to concentrate a bit on our arithmetic class, but had little success until 11:45 at which time the great annual battle between the freshmen and the upperclassmen drew to an inconclusive close and the freshmen valiantly guarded us. It was by the freshmen ladies, went on in flames.

Friday, Oct. 20—An unusual amount of work and an unusual lack of sleep tended to make this day one long headache for me. Not until this evening with the big pep rally and the snake dance did I begin to feel anywhere near normal again, and I really enjoyed that show!

WESTERN UNION DRUBS FIGHTING KNIGHTS 46-0

Warburgers Seem Bewildered with Indian Drive.

In the first home game of the season, the Western Union Eagles swooped down on the Warburg Knights, bewildering them in a 46-0 defeat at the Waverly municipal field Saturday night, Oct. 5. The Knights found themselves surrounded by two Seneca Indians and a young chap named Landtiff who made the Knights' battle seem like a child's game.

The first score came about the middle of the quarter with Landtiff passing to Young for the touchdown. Young converted and placed the score 7-0. Three plays after the kickoff, the slinky hipped Landtiff plunged across again but failed to capitalize on the extra point. After the kickoff, a Warburg punt, "Toughie" Obenauer intercepted a pass from Landtiff to Young but the Warburgers could gain no ground and lost the ball on downs. On the Eagles first play Jessup lateral to Landtiff which was good for a 40 yard gain.

Second Quarter.
On the first play, Landtiff scampered the remaining 30 yards for a touchdown. After this score, playing was centered in the middle until the latter half of the quarter when the Eagles began gain a sustained drive from their own 15 yard line to the 5 yard line where the Knights made a good stand and Western Union lost the ball on downs. Taking a Warburg punt on their 35, the Eagles took a 20 yard pass to Warburg's 5 yard line again, and this time succeeded in pushing the stubborn, fighting Knights back to make another touchdown. After the kickoff and one play the gun sounded to end the half.

Third Quarter.
The first half of the quarter was a see-saw affair, with Camarata and H. Obenauer showing well for Warburg. However, after taking the ball on downs, Landtiff snakehipped for two first downs before making a 20 yard gain for the fifth touchdown. The remainder of the period was played in Warburg territory. The highlights were Stuenkel's interception of a pass and a rumble at 15 yards and the pass from Lene to the Indian Eagle, to his teammate Young, for another touchdown.

Fourth Quarter.
After a fumble by the Knights on their own 35, a snappy execution of Indian strategy executed from Seneca to Lene on the 30 yard line gave the Eagles their last 7 points. The remainder of the game was played in Knight territory but the Western Union team was not able to score and the game ended with Western Union on their own 40 yard line.

The outstanding players for the Eagles were Landtiff, Chan Lene, Seneca, Jessup, Gustafson, and Young. For Warburg, Pudge Camarata, "Toughie" Obenauer, and Fabricius were outstanding.

The Wartburg Knights of 1940

Members of the 1940 Wartburg football squad are as follows:
STANDING: Coach C. C. Van Dyke, Edwin Obenauer, Norman Kolbe, Arnold Wildermuth, Harold Obenauer, Roland Winterfeldt, Lavene Camarata, Kenneth Morrison, Richard Wagner, Co-captain, Clarence Bergmann, Max Deimler, Lester Bergmann, Assistant Henry Koob.

KNEELING: Dan Herron, Harold Becker, Walter Schmidt, Ed. wth Naecher, Daniel Brownson, Arnold Becker, Fred Schrie, Bob Boyer.

SITTING: Marvin Peterson, Rudolph Langholz, Co-captain, Raymond Schaffer, Fred Mueller, Carl Stuenkel, Lowell Bergmann, Louis Fabricius, Richard Landwehr.

Wartburg's 1940 football season is but two games old and already an overwhelming score confronts us. In two games the opponents have scored 58 points while the Knight has tallied as yet. A hopeless case you say? Certainly not. Not by a long shot are the Knights calling it quits. If any of you are content to sit back and take Wartburg's defeat as a matter of course, you have another guess coming. The Knights have four more games to play and they will be giving all they have, which, I still insist, is good enough to pull the chestnuts out of the fire without getting burned too badly.

The defeats, if nothing else, have certainly improved the Knight squad for that all-important Homecoming encounter with the Penn Quakers. I sure sympathize with the Quakers for having to take the brunt of Wartburg's two earlier defeats. Don't be too hard on them, fellows!

Western Union!

Those powerful Eagles really showed a blitzkrieg on us. A fast, experienced team of Eagles really displayed some classy football, even though those two Indians did plenty to help them.

Interclass Competition.

Assistant Coach Hank Koob recently announced that an interclass football tournament would be sponsored in the near future. So get those kinks out of your knees, gents, get that passing arm in shape and really give for good old class glory. That goes for you too, Huth. (Huth woke up the other morning with a very sore knee. He can't explain where he got it but he does complain. "The other morning as I was going to class I saw a beautiful brunette ahead. And then, drat the heck, I couldn't catch up with her. My knee certainly ruins my social life," said the Honorable Huth.)

Hail the Crown.

An obedient subject of his Majesty the King has recently made his appearance on the Wartburg campus and the Knight football squad, Reinhold Sauder, a Canadian, made a rather belated start but better late than never they say. Sauder, it will be remembered, earned a letter in football last year and has been playing guard on the Knight first string so far.

Musings.

Two more Knights recently donned football suits to seek positions on the team, Roland "the Gulp" Winterfeldt, sophomore, and Gene Opperman, freshman bring the total to 28 aspirants.

"Stub" Wildermuth has decided to leave school. "Stub" Stuenkel certainly has the makings of a great player. His consistent "heads-up" style of play, his spirit and determination make him an admired player. His interception and beautiful run back against Western Union looked good. Also his refusal to be taken from the Wisconsin Mines game when he was badly hurt prove him to be a real Knight, Nice going, Stub!

"Toughie" Obenauer also proves himself a great asset to the team. He certainly showed great potentialities on a few spurts of offense against Western Union. Here's hoping his attack of tonsillitis won't keep him from the Homecoming game.

"Kansas-dust-storm" Fabricius really uses his hands to advantage. "He plays so rough" were comments from the side lines when "Furbreethes" grabbed an Eagle and really picked his feathers.

"Meatball!" Wagner lost 15 pounds during the Western Union game. That doesn't make his collapse so remarkable does it?

BONER OF THE WEEK

We really had Russ Bedford wandering last week. One of his dinner guests just got up and walked out on him, poor fellow. He felt quite perturbed about not being able to please his entire clientele, especially since this worthy individual was a professor.

"It all happened this way," as Stikewitz says. Our worthy professor sat down to partake of some of Russ's delectable victuals. He even had his place set extra large here as no room at any other table. Suddenly our hero jumped up with abrupt apologies and hastily departed for the door. Professor Chelievold did, however, take time to tell head waiter Schick that he had a dinner date for the evening which he had forgotten.

We never did find out if the professor got there in time. Did you, Prof?
